INTRODUCING THE DICE GAME PEOPLE AND CATS PLAY TOGETHER

PORTLAND, OR [October 23, 2008] — Darf is challenging the expression “You can’t herd cats!” CatFeats™ is a new dice game for people and their cats to play together.

With CatFeats, people compete to see who is best at getting a cat to complete fun activities like the “Shake Hands,” “Wiggle Your Ears” and “Take A Bow.

CatFeats is a totally different way for cats and people to have fun together. Players roll the paw print die and have one minute to coax their cat into performing tasks on the matching paw print card. Players can use their voice, treats, toys and gestures to get their cat to complete the activity and earn the points. First player to score 30 points wins the game!

“Before we played CatFeats, we didn’t think our cats could do tricks. Now, game night at our house includes our kitties,” says Denise Rothman, Darf president.

CatFeats can be played by two to four people and one to four cats. It comes with a paw print die, a sand timer, 30 activity cards, a score pad and a pencil. No skill is needed to play. The game is available at select pet boutiques, pet stores, game stores, gift stores, online pet stores and at darfinc.com.

Darf is a specialty pet company that creates games for people and pets to play together. For more information about Darf pet games including CatFeats visit www.darfinc.com.
